

IBM

IBM, an American multinational information technology company, approached Mpowered when ICT sector codes were released in order to assist with possible stumbling blocks to compliance, as well as to improve their B-BBEE score.

IBM requested Mpowered be a partner in their B-BBEE Compliance Management journey.

During the initial deliberations, it would have seemed that IBM would drop from a Level 2 to a Level 4 status. However, by using Mpowered's BEEToolkit, IBM could run various scenarios for generated steps to achieve their end goal, and, working closely with the element champions, could ensure the plan was compliant.

Mpowered dealt with stakeholders and verification agencies on behalf of IBM, provided quarterly review meetings, and were just a call away to assist.

IBM ended up overachieving on their goals by attaining a Level 1 B-BBEE status.
